

Joshua Halladay

(206) 622-0203
josh@pfrwa.com

Josh Halladay advises and defends public schools on a wide range of school district administration matters, with a particular emphasis on labor relations and general counsel for public schools. Josh's labor relations work includes representing school districts at collective bargaining tables and in arbitration hearings. Josh's general counsel work includes employment law, public works, construction, real property transactions, and school district governance.

PROFESSIONAL POSITIONS

Attorney, Porter Foster Rorick, 2021–present

Attorney, McGavick Graves, 2019–2021

EDUCATION

Seattle University School of Law, Seattle, Washington, J.D., 2019, with honors

Notes and Comments Editor, Seattle University Law Review

Member, Alpha Sigma Nu Honor Society

University of Southern California, Los Angeles, California, M.P.A., 2014

University of Oregon, Eugene, Oregon, B.A., 2012

AREAS OF EXPERTISE

- School administration
- Labor relations and collective bargaining
- Employee discipline and discharge
- Student civil rights
- Public Records Act/FERPA
- Public Works/Contracting
- First Amendment
- Torts

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

- Josh Halladay, The Thirteenth Amendment, Prison Labor Wages, and Interrupting the Intergenerational Cycle of Subjugation, 42 Seattle U. L. Rev. 937 (2019).